

A quiet month, The Herald's Consult night on April 6th was unattended and I have decided to put consult nights on hiatus until there is some interest shown.

A few gentles have approached me individually about their submissions and I am hopeful of seeing some completed in the near future.

I have been reminded by Black Lion that each submitter must submit his or her own paperwork. I can provide advice and information but the final work must be your own. This is in an effort to eliminate some of the confusions and lost paperwork that have occurred in the past.
